Business-class ADSL Services

Small to medium businesses, distributed enterprises and consumers demand always-on, high-speed Internet access to support the growing need for bandwidth-hogging applications and services such as multimedia, video conferencing, VoIP, websites and more. MegaPath ADSL service enables you to tap into this rapidly expanding market while leveraging MegaPath's comprehensive, managed nationwide network to reach prospective customers effectively and efficiently. Rely on MegaPath to help you deliver cutting-edge dedicated DSL to meet your customers' Internet needs.

DSL DEDICATED TO BUSINESS. MegaPath value-based suite of services is designed for each market—from home-based businesses to the enterprise—with the flexibility to create total solutions that include the network, support, and customer premises equipment (CPE) to meet the needs of each wholesale partner and reseller.

MegaPath ADSL services are ideal for remote employees, telecommuters, branch offices and single-person offices needing high-speed Internet access for web-based research, large file transfers, online collaboration and even video services.

MegaPath ADSL services are available in a range of speeds and are delivered either as line-shared or dedicated-line services. With dedicated line DSL services, your customers can have voice services provided by the local incumbent or a competitive voice provider.

EASY IP ADDRESSING. MegaPath includes a fixed IP address with network address translation (NAT) and 254 usable private IP addresses with the option to purchase five additional fixed IP addresses.

NATIONWIDE FOOTPRINT. Line-shared and dedicated-line ADSL services up to 6.0 Mbps/ 768 Kbps are available over MegaPath's entire nationwide footprint. And now, super high-speed ADSL2+ services rivaling cable broadband with speeds up to 15.0 Mbps/1.0 Mbps are available.

INSTALLATION. Wholesale partners can choose either self-installation or professional installation on shared line services. With the self-installation option, MegaPath ships the DSL installation kit to the end user and provides over-the-phone installation support. Professional installation is available when the end user does not wish to self-install. MegaPath recommends professional installation services for end users with alarm systems, satellite television systems, or more than four phone devices. Professional installation includes configuration of one PC and the ADSL router. The technician does not set up the local area network.
